What do I think about Dr King and his philosophies and everything he's done as a person. I think that he is an amazing person to be able to write all his speeches and give all of them in front of all those people and yet he still makes time for his family. It makes me think about my step dad he works 12 hours a day is remodeling a 110 year old house and still he makes time for us his family. I myself find Dr King as an inspiration. I find him inspirational because he always fought for what he thought was right and never gave up but he also refused to use violence instead he used the power of words and of course a boycott and a few marches but he never once struck a man because he didn't believe in those things he did he simply tried to persuade them with his speeches. I also like his saying walk with pride or ride with shame I think him saying this means you can never give in to someone because they have more power with them you keep going until you can cope with them and make the power equally spread to all. I don't think though that he wouldn't be happy with the society today because he worked to stop people from fighting and ~~hating~~ we have all these groups fighting because they have different beliefs. and we have everybody telling their freedom for granted and using it in ways that are bad for the economy's security of money and many other things. The one thing I don't understand is why anyone would want to kill a man with such great ideas in his mind. Someone who could change the way we live and make it a better and safer place to live.

way cool let him know you appreciate him!!

oh yes

Wowee

great good 4 him!

true

I agree
